

PATRICE MCCARRON

MIDDLE SCHOOL TEACHER

Saint Agatha School

pmccarron@cdeeducation.org

PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Starting her 33rd year at St. Agatha School, Patrice McCarron enters her 35th year in education overall. A graduate of Salem State University and Master's from Ohio Dominican, Patrice is a National Catholic Education Association Distinguished Teacher along with receiving the Upper Arlington Golden Apple Award for teaching. She believes as the teacher, she has the responsibility to be the expert in subject matter and focus on teaching the whole child, encourage Christian behavior, academic success and community service. At St. Agatha, Patrice is the coordinator for the Young Authors Program and the Spelling Bee and also serves on the Accreditation Committee. For enjoyment, she enjoys gardening and traveling to Boston, Texas and England to see her family. Mrs. McCarron and her husband, John, reside in Columbus and also enjoy visits from their children and grandchildren.

EXPERIENCE

35 Years in Education

LICENSURE/CERTIFICATION

Elementary Education K-8

Religion Certification

EDUCATION

Bachelor of Science, Salem State University

Master's of Education, Ohio Dominican University